When registering, training providers must self-certify that they meet all requirements in ELDT regulation requirements.

Drivers do not need to register for the Training Provider Registry. Only training providers will register and provide information to the registry.

COMING FEBRUARY 7, 2022

Once operational, the FMCSA Training Provider Registry will retain a record of which applicants for a commercial driver's license (CDL) have completed the new training and certification process outlined in the Entry-Level Driver Training (ELDT) regulations.

For more information on the ELDT requirements, see page 2.

What is the Training Provider Registry?

The Training Provider Registry is a web system that will help CDL applicants connect with qualified training providers to get the training they need to safely operate commercial motor vehicles (CMVs).

It will also improve safety on our Nation’s roads by receiving, retaining, and relaying a record of CDL applicants that have successfully completed the required entry-level driver training.

FMCSA has established an interim final rule that establishes February 7, 2022 as the launch date of the Training Provider Registry. On this date, anyone subject to the ELDT requirements must comply with them.

Who will access information from the Training Provider Registry?

- Entry-level drivers will SEARCH for a training provider using the list on the Training Provider Registry website.
- Registered training providers* will SUBMIT driver certification information to FMCSA after a driver successfully completes training.
- States will VERIFY a driver’s completion of required training using data made available by the Training Provider Registry before administering relevant tests.

*When registering, training providers must self-certify that they meet all requirements in ELDT regulation requirements.

Drivers do not need to register for the Training Provider Registry. Only training providers will register and provide information to the registry.
Who is considered an entry-level driver?

Entry-level CMV operators in interstate and intrastate commerce who are applying to:
- Obtain a Class A or Class B CDL for the first time
- Upgrade an existing Class B CDL to a Class A CDL
- Obtain a school bus (S), passenger (P), or hazardous materials (H) endorsement

The requirements only apply to individuals who obtain a CDL or an S, P, or H endorsement on or after February 7, 2022.

What types of training must entry-level drivers complete?

The Training Provider Registry ensures that entry-level drivers receive training and demonstrate proficiency in the following areas:

How does the Training Provider Registry support the ELDT Program?

The ELDT regulations will save lives by:
- Ensuring that only qualified drivers receive a CDL, upgrade, or endorsement
- Setting a national baseline for entry-level driver training
- Identifying standards that training providers must meet
- Giving States information they need at critical safety checkpoints

The Training Provider Registry will be a critical piece of the Entry-Level Driver Training Program. By receiving and retaining driver certification information from training providers and relaying it to States, the Training Provider Registry will ensure that the requirements of the Entry-Level Driver Training (ELDT) regulations are met.
